

#6 – count the number of failed backfill jobs and fail the overall job

Reported by @UnquietCode

Use a step counting action to count how many of the matrix jobs fail but continue (using the continue-on-error flag), and then fail the job at the end if at least one step failed. Report the info in the logs first before failing.